

Fighting Addiction One Family at a Time

Things are falling apart.

The legal community is involved. Your loved one is in a legal crisis affecting your entire family. There are a thousand questions swirling in your head:

What now?

How can we be a part of the solution, not the problem?

DO we get involved?

Should we bail him out?

What resources do we need to make available?

Is treatment appropriate at this time?

These situations are emotional and always terrifying. Substance use may be something you are very familiar with, or something you are just beginning to try and understand.

So what comes next?

Solutions of North Texas has been helping families for more than a decade to navigate crisis and answer all of these questions.

We know exactly what needs to come next and how to assist your family through this painful process without causing more damage. We have been active participants in the legal system since 2006 and serve on a number of specialty courts here in Denton County.

This is always a difficult and emotional time. The presence of an objective, experienced professional can help to guide you through the maze of substance abuse and addiction.

We can provide professionals who understand both addiction and the court system.
